Webinar:
Rethinking Math Milestones for K-12
Thursday, March 16, 2023, 10:00-11:00am

Math knowledge is evident and measurable from birth. Regardless of a learner's sense of belonging in the math community, each one, with rare exception, is born for math.

Yet almost half of our K–12th grade students believe math is beyond their reach as the 2022 NAEP reports many students continue to struggle with mathematics. What happened between “born for this” and “frustrated by this”?

Join us to explore the journey to math proficiency. Examine Math Milestones—essential math concepts that highlight the “make it or break it” moments in math teaching and learning. More information and registration.

OnDemand Webinar:
3 Essential Questions to Ask About Students' Midyear Growth

When winter break ends, many classroom routines pick up right where they left off. But are you being guided by all of the information you have at this point in the year? How can you best identify the practices that are producing the greatest results and those that may be falling short? In this on-demand webinar, Dr. Sarah Brown and Dr. Gene Kerns explore three key questions to ask at midyear to guide decisions around instruction and intervention in order to maximize student growth. More information and registration. More information and registration.

Webinar:
